

New York Stock Market

New York, July 1.—Wall Street did little more than mark time today, while the Democratic convention of Baltimore went through a series of rule ballots. The stock market maintained a firm undertone, however, with some further sensational news in the speculative market, and the general advance group, the better known shares that about midday were held for part of the day included the movement of shares of $2,000,000 and to export to Paris making a total of $2,000,000 thus far on the movement.
